

Chess Club

The game of chess is an epic battle between two opponents, waged not with violence but rather with the mind; it is the ultimate game of strategy and psychology, embodying all the components of warfare with the exclusion of all of its drawbacks. It is a one on one match of wits and determination, fit for people of all personalities and interests.

At chess club, there is little emphasis placed upon winning the match; rather, what we focus upon is the mechanics of the game, improving one's self and reaching new levels of thought and insight.

Mechanics Of The Game

Chess is played upon a board containing 64 two tones squares, the realm in which pieces are moved and manipulated. Each player begins the game with sixteen pieces, each one embodying its own unique skills, purpose and value. The game is won when a player's king is cornered into the position of "check mate," a situation when the king has no place to move, and no opportunity to escape. The abilities of each unique piece make this game an intriguing brain buster, one that has been played for centuries and has been mesmerizing the minds of countless players.
